

Long-term trends of ocean heat content and surface temperature

Observed and modelled historical data, and model projections under different emissions scenarios

